

Smith & Nephew Launches New Educational Program

Smith & Nephew's Advanced Wound Management division has launched Classroom to Bedside, a new professional education program focused on skin and wound care. The program looks to help nurses and other healthcare professionals by providing resources and tools to support optimal assessment and management of wounds, reduce clinical practice variation and improve the patient experience.

This new program provides the training and tools to take caregivers from the classroom to the bedside, using a series of teaching modules, training DVDs, pocket guides and bedside tools to provide guidance for pressure ulcer prevention, wound assessment and documentation, management of non-healing wounds and the use of advanced wound care dressings and negative pressure wound therapy.
