

Titan Medical Announces MOU With University Of Florida

Titan Medical, Inc. announced today that it has signed a non-binding memorandum of understanding with The University of Florida. Under the terms of the agreement, UF Department of Urology, College of Medicine will test and evaluate the company's Amadeus[®] Surgical System, which includes their single-site surgical platform. UF will provide detailed feedback as appropriate.

"I am very pleased to have engaged The University of Florida's Department of Urology for our development of Amadeus," said Dr. Reiza Rayman, President of Titan Medical Inc. "We have established a number of relationships with world-class hospitals and it was a natural fit to extend our network with an experienced robotic surgical urology team at The University of Florida as we advance our development and commercialization efforts for Amadeus."

Source URL (retrieved on 01/26/2015 - 2:45am):

<http://www.surgicalproductsmag.com/news/2012/11/titan-medical-announces-mou-university-florida>