

Patient Warming Blanket

Bair Hugger Underbody Series blankets are designed to surround patients with forced-air warming while providing clinicians with the flexibility and full patient access necessary for pediatric and adult surgical patients. The lightweight, disposable and latex-free Underbody Series blankets are constructed of durable materials and the patented blanket designs feature fluid outlets to minimize pooling on the blanket's surface. The Model 635 Full Access blanket offers the added versatility of a pass-through slit for flexible patient positioning and accommodates the use of a drawsheet. Tuck flaps and tape provide stability, and clear head drapes keep warm air around the intubated patient's head while allowing for clinician observation.
