Endoscopy Camera

The 61DC Camera offers an array of advanced features making it the best all around choice for many imaging applications including microscopy, colposcopy and endoscopy. The C-mount sensor can easily be fitted with a wide range of objectives allowing you to easily adapt it to different applications. Use the fiberscope setting for imaging flexible fiber optic equipment or adjust the window for smaller images produced by diameter optical instruments. No matter what your application the 61D can be easily tuned to offer a superb image. Available for OEM.
