

Medical Grade Color Printer

The UP-55MD medical grade A5 size color printer is equipped with the company's exclusive ImagePort™ Interface feature, allowing the user to simultaneously save images onto a pocket-sized USB storage device while the image is being printed. The ImagePort interface automatically saves images to a removable storage device with each print. This allows medical professionals to produce hardcopy prints and industry-standard imaging files from surgical procedures, ultrasound examinations and other or scientific applications. The UP-55MD prints photo-quality, high-resolution images in just 20 seconds, and is compatible with nearly every endoscopy camera and ultrasound system currently available in the market.
