

Instrument Sterilization & Storage Brackets

The Instrument Organization System (IOS) is among the newest members of Aesculap's family of sterilization products. These bright yellow silicone brackets are designed to be used with the companies existing line of perforated baskets and container system. Completely modular in design, these brackets can be customized to meet the needs of virtually any set in the hospital. The IOS brackets provide a specific storage location for instruments inside a set, helping to protect them from damage during sterilization, transportation and storage.
