

Surgical Clipper Attachment for Close Shave

Medline has developed a close-shave foil head attachment for clinicians (such as neurosurgeons) who still want a completely smooth surface not achievable with a regular clipper blade. Similar to a consumer face shaver blade, the foil used in conjunction with either MediClip's regular universal blade or coarse hair blade provides a smooth shave without the risk of nicking that a razor might cause. With many healthcare providers striving to remove razors from the entire hospital, the attachment can also be used for patients on the floors, such as in the ICU, to shave face stubble. All three of the blade attachments use the same MediClip handle, which also has a hands-free release feature allowing the user to detach the single-use clipper blades without ever touching them. ,
