

Post-Surgical Bra

The Dale® Post-Surgical Bra features a stretch knit fabric that lets the surgical site breathe and has a smooth, seamless design which stretches vertically and horizontally to provide the proper compression and support. Suitable for use following a wide range of procedures, the soft, breathable fabric stretches to accommodate edema without irritating sensitive tissue and has a Velcro®-type front closure to facilitate dressing changes. Providing maximum comfort throughout recovery, the Dale® Post-Surgical Bra was developed to replace elasticized bandages, tee-shirts, and traditional sports bras.
