

Doctors Grow New Ear On Cancer Victim's Arm

Unfortunately your browser does not support IFrames.

Sherrie Walter lost her ear to cancer two years ago, but doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore offered Walter a chance at a new ear -- a permanent one built from her own tissue.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/30/2015 - 6:58pm):

http://www.surgicalproductsmag.com/videos/2012/10/doctors-grow-new-ear-cancer-victims-arm?qt-recent_content=0