

Mom Gets First Triple Organ Transplant In Georgia's History

YouTube

Five months ago, 38-year-old Stephanie Lindstrom received a triple organ transplant at Emory University Hospital, the first procedure of its kind in the state of Georgia. Doctors say since 2009, there have been only six reported in the United States. Lindstrom, who has dealt with congenital heart problems throughout her life, is recovering after dealing with serious health issues early this year.
